

THE AVATARIC CYCLE

by Archbishop F. Bugge.

We now turn our attention to the Avatars. In this day and age we hear much of Jesus, but very little of the ones that went before him. We are told that Jesus was the only saviour of the world ever to come to save us. We are told he alone was sent by a loving God to give all an equal chance of redemption. We are told so many things about the saviour by theologians, and so many of these facts are nothing but piffle, poppycock and balderdash.

What about the people who lived before the birth of Jesus? Don't they deserve a chance?

Are we to believe that a loving God sent an avatar only once to save humanity, and ignored these ones that lived before?

What pathetic ignoramus dreamed that one up?

How could that be possibly construed as giving all an equal chance of redemption?

It is extremely apparent that something is very remiss, either God didn't give a hoot about the ones that went before, or there must have been an avatar sent to inform them.

Now even blind Freddie can see that if God wasn't a loving God, he wouldn't bother sending Jesus to help us, and if he was, how could he possibly forget his subjects that went before.

We can't have it both ways, so which one is wrong?

If Jesus was the only avatar to come down for humanity, then the whole principle of salvation becomes a joke.

As the world was designed to such perfection, surely God could not make such a glaring mistake as to ignore so many people for so long. Let us look back in time and see what help humanity really had in this field. The first avatar back is naturally Jesus, who was born in 4BC. How the discrepancy came in the calendar is irrelevant at this time. If we travel further back we come to an avatar Zoroaster, who was born 2164BC. These two avatars were male. We now travel back further to the avatar Helena, born 4324BC, and then back to Danu 6484BC. These two were female.

We go back once again to the year 8644BC, and we have Rama Chandra. Further back again we go to Kumara born 10804BC. Note that these two are male. At this time in the world evolution we are in the declining years of the civilization of Atlantis. If we go further back we strike Gaia born 12964BC, then further back to Nanta born 15124BC, both of these are female.

Now let us look carefully at this, and we see that there is a pattern emerging. Every two avatars there is a change of gender in the bodily representation of the avatar. It also becomes clear that there is a certain time between the coming of avatars, 2160 years.

It seems obvious that the next avatar will come again in the year 2156AD, and will be in a female form.

When Jesus said "behold I will come again", he meant The Christ force, which will come in the new female body. The coming will not be in the body of Jesus as a lot of people seem to think. Jesus was the avatar for the Piscean age, and as a new avatar comes with every age, the next will represent the Aquarian age.

Thus to represent the full zodiac it takes 25,920 years, and 12 avatars, 6 male and 6 female.

We will now look at the miracle ability of these avatars.

Jesus is said to have performed miracles, in actual fact there is no miracle in the life of Jesus, just very secret knowledge of the understanding of cosmic law. The greatest so called miracle is the resurrection, but this is quite logical in explanation, but very difficult in practice, and only a very highly evolved person could ever achieve this task as Jesus did. To me the fact that he achieved the resurrection proves to me that he was who he claimed to be, for who else could know such cosmic law, and put it into practice successfully.

With the understanding of these laws, what to us is a miracle is to him just mundane. All the avatars had this ability, as they were all very evolved and devout people, but it suited the heirachy of religion to deny all the other avatars, to the point where to most people they are forgotten.

So there is now the obvious picture that God did not deny the pleas of his people over the years before Jesus. I have no doubt that the avatars go back much further than I know, for I firmly believe that God has had us under his wing since the beginning of humanity. I most certainly believe in the words "brethren I would not leave you comfortless", and I do not believe we ever were, even since the beginning of time.

In the case of every male avatar, a death which caused the leaking of his blood into the earth occurred, thus giving the planet a boost of the spiritual vibration that is needed from time to time. This gives an enormous surge of energy to the evolution of humanity and the planet. This was done willingly by these messengers of God, even though they knew that the future held an unpleasant death in store for them.

In the case of the female avatars, this death and the subsequent leaking of the blood to the ground was not necessary.

The reason for this is that being female, they obviously are of a different polarity to the male avatar, and therefore a different method of passing on the divine vibrations must be used. The blood to the ground still has to be shed, but not by death.

In the case of the female avatar it is achieved with the menstrual blood finding its way to ground. This still gives the divine vibrations to the planet, but in smaller doses over a longer period of time, where in the case of the male avatar, the surge was instantaneous.

This has the same effect as the blood which flowed from the side of the body of Jesus.

The overall results are exactly the same in both male and female avatars, despite the discrepancy in methods of getting the job done.

In this day and age where a lot of people seem to be hell bent on proving that one gender is better than the other, let me ask you this; would God send us down second best for a task such as this?

Such a thing is of course unthinkable, therefore both male and female must have equal standing. If they didn't, the balance of the cosmos would be overloaded towards one polarity, and this would destroy the universe. A system of two male, then two female, keeps the system in constant balance of polarity.

With this knowledge, we hope the time has come to let us cease this constant lunacy about which gender is best, and understand each avatar, male or female has an equally important job to do.

A positive without a negative or vice versa simply creates a situation in which nothing can exist, so once more we see the importance of polarity, this time regarding the avatars.
