

THIS MAN JESUS

Over the years we have heard much and many opinions about Jesus. Is he man, myth, or just some radical trouble maker?

Let's look at some of these Questions and see if we can find a logical answer to them.

First we must endeavour to understand whether this man Jesus is God incarnate or not. The answer is simply that Jesus was no more God incarnate than we are. We have heard Jesus called the only Son of God. I would dispute this most heartily, for we are all "SONS and DAUGHTERS" of God. We must say however, that because Jesus was a very highly evolved human being to the level where he could not be taught any more on the physical level, we must certainly class him as being the only PERFECTED Son of God at that time within the human evolution. This means that he was the ONLY one of the human race at that time developed enough, and therefore capable of carrying the role of the Godly Avatic messenger for the Age of Pisces. Jesus is the first of the human evolution to attain the post of Major Avatar. Up until then that post has always been occupied by higher intelligences from other planets incarnating into our race to assist us in our evolution. Even now, 2000 odd years later after the birth of Jesus, there is still only one human ready to assume such a role who is due to take over the role of managing the Christ energy from Jesus in the year 2156.

Now common sense says we must realise that the awesome power to perform the acts of healing, apparently resurrecting etc, must be contained with his body. This being so it is imperative that there be no impurities in his physical body. Any impurities would tend to resist the Christ energies, and create enormous heat within the body during this process, and would therefore immediately trigger spontaneous combustion by the powerful energies acting on these impurities. This very pure bodily condition could only be achieved by the fact of a double virgin birth. Now I say Double virgin birth because his Mother Mary (actually named Miriam) was also born in this manner of Virgin Birth to help isolate impurities from the physical body of Jesus.

Thus was the stage set for the Birth of Jesus on the 23rd of December 4 BC under the Cosmic Black and White ray. It is common knowledge that Jesus was born into the community of the "Essenes", and like it or not the Essenes were simply Druids who were Jews. Thus Jesus was actually part of what is regarded as a pagan family, and this family were Billionaires. All the myth about being of lowly birth is Church devised twaddle to suit its own ends. Jesus' lineage was actually in a royal line from King David.

Jesus was born surrounded by the Jewish people, and although his family had the ancient knowledge of the Druids he did follow the Jewish law as well as the Essene law. Druids and Essenes always follow the law of the country they are in as well as their own stricter laws.

Like all Male avatars, Jesus was born without any contact with the Christ energy. This was placed into him at his Baptism, where he then became able to access the abilities and powers of the Christ energies of God. He was not given these powers without earning them, and he had to study and learn how to invoke these powers and use them properly.

Jesus was instructed in all major languages, and spoke 12 fluently without any accent. Other languages he could understand and speak well enough to be understood. As is the tradition in all Jewish and Essene families, whether they were billionaires or not, the males had to learn a trade or profession of some sort. The fact that Jesus learned to use tools and wood as his medium, did not mean he was a pauper. It was the family billions that paid for all the travelling around done by Jesus and his disciples both male and female.

At the age of Twelve Jesus went with his uncle Joseph of Arimathea to England where Joseph traded with the English Druids for Tin from their Cornish mines. It was here that Jesus met his most knowledgeable teacher named Drucius. Drucius was the leader and high Priest of the English Druids. This man taught Jesus all the healing arts and how to control them, as well as many other facets of psychic knowledge and information. This is not mentioned in any of the Bibles because it would never do to have any reference to those pagans, who have been maligned and accused of the most atrocious rubbish for centuries. (Actually it was the Roman Army public relations system that started the story of pagan sacrifices and it has stuck to this day. It just shows how good the Roman PR was. Even most of the so called modern Pagans believe this rubbish.)

Now after Jesus learnt all he could from the English Druids, he went through India learning the wisdom of Buddhism, Hindi, and he also learned all he could of the Egyptian mysteries. These travels are not mentioned in the Bible either, but they have been recorded in many other of the books of the Hindu's and Buddhists and other historic documents within those countries. These historic records have been mis-dated and used to strengthen the story of Jesus fleeing to India and living out his life there with Mary Magdalene after he survived the crucifixion. This story is false.

By this time Jesus has mastered the art of working with the Christ energy, and far exceeding all his teachers in ability, so here we begin to show what actually happened in regard to these so called miracles.

Jesus had been taught how to allow his spirit to exit his body just as we do when we are sleeping. Our Spirit is then joined to us by a slender silver thread. He did this every time the Christ entity wished to inhabit, use, and control his body, and it was the Christ force that had this powerful energy to heal so efficiently. The walking on water is no miracle as I myself have the formula to do this, but if I attempted this, it would kill me as I do not have the perfected body to achieve this and survive, none the less there are two advanced yogi's today who can achieve this. This act does place an enormous strain on the heart and lungs.

Now that we have understood that The Christ and Jesus are two different beings working in the one body, we can address Jesus in a proper manner as Jesus THE Christ.

Now let's look at these supposed Miracles. There are NO miracles in the Bibles or on any other act of Jesus. All these events were simply the result of understanding Cosmic law. This is quite a deep subject and it would take a while to get the full basic principles of it. To control the psychic level is to control the physical level. This is something we humans have yet to learn, although there are some Yogi's who in this day and age have achieved much in this direction. This is the true meaning of when Jesus said "AS ABOVE SO BELOW", or "YOUR FAITH CAN MOVE MOUNTAINS", or "AS YOU THINK SO YOU ARE". Of course such powers are not easily attained without much effort and learning.

Let us move to the crucifixion to show how these powers can be used. When Jesus was placed in the tomb, the sepulchre was then sealed until it was blasted open on the third morning by some sort of explosion. There are quite a few references to this explosion, and the cloud of dust that came issuing forth, but very few understood what that was, and how it came about, so rather than try to explain it, the subject was conveniently dismissed as irrelevant. (A common event throughout church history.)

The mechanics of the resurrection go like this. The physical body vibrates within a natural frequency range common to all humans. If one were to raise the frequency of the body by incredible mental power, the Body would disintegrate in an explosion. This is where the body of Jesus went when the door was blown open by this “mysterious” explosion. This now leaves the higher level of existence of the Astral being the lowest part of Jesus remaining intact. To many this level would be referred to as our Ghost level. If by some great effort of will power (which Jesus had in abundance) the Astral level’s natural frequency range could be lowered, then the Astral would become visible and solid. This body could be touched and feel solid to anyone wishing to touch it. When Jesus relaxed this concentration, the vibration would revert to its natural range and to us the body would simply disappear back to the Astral. There is no miracle to this, but enormous great control of the will-power at all physical and psychic human levels.

In all these arts of control only two disciples understood this basic principle properly, and they were Judas, and Mary Magdalene. Judas did NOT betray Jesus, but followed his instructions to the letter, but that is another story.

Jesus did NOT survive and live a life with Mary Magdalene in India, France or any other place, those stories are pure fictional twaddle that has been tossed around for centuries until there are those who have come to believe it. All the so called proof is so vague, and quite explainable in many other ways, but tell a story often enough and there are those who will eventually believe it. Dan Brown’s book “The Da Vinci Code” shows how easy this is, even though he himself admits this aspect of his book is pure fiction.

Jesus did NOT sire any children to anybody, as that would have created a new lot of physical and psychic karma, and this would have rendered his incarnation as an Avatar utterly useless.
